Cabergoline tablet

What is this medicine?

CABERGOLINE is used to treat high levels of prolactin, a hormone made by the body that affects such things as the menstrual cycle, breast milk production, fertility, and sexual function. Cabergoline also treats high levels of prolactin which occur with certain tumors such as adenomas. This medication is sometimes used for the treatment of Parkinson's disease or restless-legs syndrome.

What should I tell my health care provider before I take this medicine?

They need to know if you have any of these conditions:

- high or low blood pressure
- liver disease
