We at Nanowerk do not endorse or encourage piracy at any level or in any form. While looking for streaming websites, all the responsibility falls on you to check the copyright and legal status of the content(s) you access! This page is about websites to watch sports channels online without registration or for free trial periods and we hope you'll find some good sports streaming sites in our list. All 'free' sites are ad-supported, so expect different levels of annoying ad interruptions. And while we have checked the channels in our free sport streaming list below, we cannot guarantee they are all safe at the time you are reading this. That's why we can't emphasize enough that you protect yourself with a VPN (Virtual Private Network) prior to visiting these sites. This will help you protect yourself from website operators, hackers, and your ISP. Please note: Streaming copyrighted content with a free sports streaming site is an offense, and you may face legal sanctions when caught. While we recommend using a VPN to stream content online, this should be for those sport event streams that fall within the public domain, as we never encourage using pirated content. Here is an overview (detailed descriptions are below the table; sorted alphabetically):

The availability of sport categories and streamed events depends from site to site, so you might have to do some browsing around. There are many illegal sports streaming sites out there and we strongly recommend that you use caution by using a VPN and immediately leave sites that you suspect are illegal or unsafe. Most legal sites are heavily ad supported or charge a fee but almost all of them offer free trial periods. Streaming copyrighted content can involve making infringing copies of the works in question. Please check the legal status of anything you are considering to stream. If you are streaming movies and TV shows that are hosted within a public domain then it's legal.
